The Kanacha Daily, a small sheet printed at Charleston, makes this ambitious announcement:

The publishers of the Kanacha Daily inform the public that they will employ several first-class stenographers to report in full the proceedings of the Convention, both houses of the Legislature and also the Court of Appeals.

To report these proceedings "in fall" means, we presume, to report verbatim the debates in both houses of the Legislature and Convention, and the arguments in Court, with everything else just as it transpires. It takes "first-class stenographers" to do such work, and there are not many in the country equal to it. We have seen (or rather heard) the House of Delegates do as much talking, many a day, as the House of Representatives does in the same time, It is the amount of talk, not the magnitude of the body that makes the work of of talk, not the magnitude of the body that makes the work of the reporters. JEFPERSON COUNTY —CLERK'S OPPICE OF CINCUT COURT, November 21, 1871.—Jacob G. Williard, behalf of himself and others, paternal heirs of Wm. Grove, deceased, vs. the unknown heirs (if such there be.) of Kate Richter, deceased. Supplemental cross-bill in Chancory in the case of James W. Glean et al. vs. the unknown heirs (if such there be.) of Kate Richter, deceased. The unknown heirs of Kate Richter, (a stater of John Grove, father of Wm. Grove, deceased), if any such there be, are hereby notided that on the 21th day of November A. D.
1871, the putitioner filed the said cross bill in said Circuit Court, where the same is now pending.
Said Bill alleges that said Court, by its decree in the original case of Glean et al. vs. Henry Blackford et al., has reserved one-eighth part of the paternal estate of said William Grove, deceased. in order to protect the unknown helrs of Rate Richert, deceased, if such survivo; and also alleges that no such unknown helrs or representatives of Kate Richer were in existence at the death of William Grove, deceased. The object and prayer of the supplemental cross-bill is for a decree finding and adjudging that no such unknown heirs exist, and that the fund set apart to protect their interests may be distributed among the other heirs-al-word Wm. Grove, deceased, now before the court.
